(Sex Workers Cry) Rights Not Rescue is a 2013 documentary made, and told, through the experiences of Cambodian sex workers, who directly collaborated in the production and editing of the film.
Through the film these women question the policies around sex work in Cambodia that are put in place to 'rescue' sex workers, but end up harming and negatively affecting their lives.

Tickets are by donation at the door to cover the cost of the venue and sound equipment.
