

- HOME
- NEWS
- Toronto
- Canada
- World
- VIEWS
- ENTERTAINMENT
- LIFE
- WHEELS.CA
- BUSINESS
- SPORTS
- YOUR HOME
- HOROSCOPES
- GAMES
- FEATURES
- SPECIAL FEATURES
- CONTESTS
- FLYERS

News / Vancouver

Vancouver gets first women-only supervised injection site

The site is located at SisterSpace at 135 Dunlevy Avenue

VANCOUVER COASTAL HEALTH/CONTRIBUTED

Sisterspace is operated by Atira Women's Resource Society in the Downtown Eastside.

By: Wanyee Li Metro Published on Tue May 16 2017

Vancouver Coastal Health is opening the province's first women-only supervised injection site in the Downtown Eastside.

Women can now go to Atira's Women Resource Society's SisterSpace, a shelter at 135 Dunlevy Ave., from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. to inject illicit substances and know they are in a safe environment, according to a release from VCH.

The service is especially important for vulnerable women like those who work in sex work, said Dr. Patricia Daly, VCH's chief medical health officer.

"It's more important than ever to support this vulnerable group so they can have access to life-saving services during this overdose crisis," she said in a written statement.

Related

- April becomes second deadliest month in Vancouver's overdose crisis in 2017
- 168 overdose calls in Vancouver during the first week of May
- Vancouver police warn of stronger new fentanyl types on the streets
- Vancouver police issue another opioid warning after 12 suspected drug overdoses
- 2016 in Review: Vancouver and B.C.'s fentanyl crisis

The centre will also act as an access point for primary care because a nurse from BC Women's Hospital will be on hand to provide chronic disease management, pregnancy testing, and screening for sexually transmitted diseases.

Most Popular

Here comes the heat, Halifax: String of warm weather to usher in long weekend

Newfoundland couple say they were stranded in Portugal after Air Canada cancelled tickets home

B.C. geographer behind 'Garden Spicer' ponders sudden world fame

Shaking it up: Ground-breaking new salt study goes against the grain

Vancouver Views

More...

City Holler

A tale of two school boards

City Holler

Retail 'zones of exclusion' in Vancouver's Downtown Eastside hurting our neighbourhoods

One vacation problem solved: All of the books, none of the w...

Paperless bookkeeping made

Make it tonight: Cheesy roasted supported when they are able to access services in women-only settings. Some will altogether avoid places where they know certain men will be so this new women's-only option is critical," says Bonnie Wilson, lead for women's services at VCH.

"Once women are away from situations where their safety is in jeopardy, they can begin addressing their physical and emotional health needs."

About 141 people in Vancouver have died from drug overdoses so far in 2017, according to the city.

There were 922 drug overdose deaths in B.C. in 2016.

People can find more information about overdose prevention sites at www.vch.ca/overdose

Diverse foods flourish in the city's nor...

5 important questions for first-time hom...

Editors' Picks

What cultural appropriation is, and why you should care: Shree Paradkar

'Truly exceptional': From the oilsands emerges the best-preserved armoured dinosaur ever found

Video: Dinosaurs may still be here had asteroid hit at different time or place

Update: 'World's saddest dog' has new foster home after being returned to shelter

More on Metronews.ca

About

About Us
Contact
Careers
RSS Feeds

Terms

Advertising Terms
Terms and Conditions
Privacy Code

Metronews.ca

My Metro Store
Contests
Metro Panel
Special Features
FAQ